

SAPRAC

Saudi American Public Relation Affairs Committee

For Immediate Release: 09/14/2017

SAPRAC Launches Second Media Campaign for The Qatar Insider

Washington, DC - Today the Saudi American Public Relation Affairs Committee (SAPRAC) launched its second media campaign for The Qatar Insider (<http://www.theqatarinsider.com>), a source that highlights Qatar's continued support and harboring of known terrorist

"We want the American people to know more about what Qatar is doing in the Gulf region," said Salman Al-Ansari, founder and president of SAPRAC, an American organization that focuses on strengthening relations between Saudi Arabia and the United States.

"Qatar is helping the brutal regime in North Korea by employing North Korean citizens and soldiers", said Salman Al-Ansari "all labor income derived from these Qatari slaves go directly to Pyongyang's deadly nuclear and missile program."

"Qatar has always been a malevolent element in an area besieged by terrorist organizations. Now Americans can visit The Qatar Insider to learn more about the high-risk Gulf crisis as it unfolds".

The campaign includes national and local online and television channels.

About SAPRAC: Based in Washington, DC, SAPRAC builds upon the historic political, economic and cultural ties between Saudi Arabia and the United States. SAPRAC strongly believes that the best way to achieve this goal is through direct, continued and sustained dialogue with the American people. More importantly, SAPRAC is committed to its core values of transparency and integrity.

For any questions or media inquiries, please contact us at the following email:

info@saprac.org